The video begins with a graphic displaying the starting lineup and formation for the Portugal national football team. This transitions to a wide, high-angle view of a packed stadium at night, with players on the brightly lit pitch below.

The scene cuts to the center of the field where the two team captains, one in red and one in white, meet with the match officials for the coin toss. After shaking hands, the camera follows them as they greet other players. The match officials, all in yellow uniforms, are then shown shaking hands with various players from both teams.

A brief shot shows the inside of the "FIFA VAR ROOM," where several officials monitor the game on a wall of screens.

The video returns to the stadium view, now displaying the lineup for the Spanish team, cycling through photos of each player. This is followed by close-up shots of the coaches for both Portugal and Spain sitting on their respective benches, looking focused.

The players take their positions for kickoff. A Spanish player in a white jersey stands over the ball at the center circle. The referee blows the whistle, and the match begins. After a few minutes of play, a Portuguese player in red dribbles the ball into the penalty area and is tripped by a defender. The referee immediately signals for a penalty kick. Several Spanish players protest the call, but the referee is unmoved.

The Portuguese player who was fouled, Cristiano Ronaldo, places the ball on the penalty spot. He takes a deep breath, runs up, and kicks the ball into the right side of the net as the goalkeeper dives the opposite way. The score updates to 1-0 for Portugal. Ronaldo runs to the corner, leaps into his signature celebration, and is then embraced by his jubilant teammates.

Several slow-motion replays of the foul and the successful penalty kick are shown from various angles.

Play resumes from the center circle. Later, Ronaldo is fouled again in the midfield and falls to the ground, holding his jaw. The referee stops play for the foul. The video continues with general gameplay, showing players passing the ball and an assistant referee signaling with his flag. The clip concludes with the Spanish coach on the sideline, shouting and gesturing to his players on the field.

This silent video clip captures several minutes of a soccer match between a team in red jerseys (Portugal) and a team in white jerseys (Spain).

The clip begins with a wide view of the game in a large stadium. The score is displayed as POR 1 - 0 ESP. The ball goes out of play, and a Portuguese player in a number 5 jersey prepares for a throw-in.

The video then cuts to a replay. A Portuguese player with "RONALDO" and the number 7 on his back is dribbling when he is tripped by a Spanish player and falls. This is followed by a replay of a penalty kick taken by the same player. He kicks the ball into the right side of the net as the goalkeeper dives in the opposite direction. The player smiles after scoring.

The footage returns to the live game, where a Spanish player with "NACHO" and the number 4 on his back takes a throw-in. The camera briefly shows several men in suits watching from the stands and a coach in a suit shouting and gesturing from the sideline.

A Portuguese goalkeeper in a black and pink jersey takes a goal kick, sending the ball far down the field. For a significant portion of the clip, the teams pass the ball back and forth, mostly in the midfield area, with Spain often controlling possession and probing the Portuguese defense.

One notable Spanish attack sees a player with "SILVA" and the number 21 on his back involved in a passing sequence near the Portuguese penalty area, which ends with a shot going wide of the goal.

Later, a Spanish player in a number 18 jersey goes down after a challenge but gets back up. The Portuguese goalkeeper catches the ball from another attack and throws it to a teammate to restart play.

Towards the end of the clip, a blue graphic with a QR code and promotional text for the FIFA archive appears on the left and bottom of the screen, partially overlaying the ongoing match. The graphic disappears briefly to show a close-up of a Portuguese player with "G.GUEDES" and the number 17 on his back, before the graphic returns and the clip ends.
